Secretary Nightingale Detected Pre- He Is Not to Serve with the Turkpares to Commit Suicide.

This Fact Led to the Police Getting United States Has Not Expostulate

J. T. Nightingale, Secretary of the Long Island Loan Association, of Green-funds of the Loan Association. The Brooklyn police stumbled on the case last night, after receiving information that Nightingale was about to commit suicide. Up to a late hour this afternoon he had not been arrested, and as he was seen at noon, it is believed he is still in Brooklyn.

Nightingale lives with his wife and fourteen-year-old son at 355 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn. His office is not far from the Claffon avenue police station.

While Capt. Eason, of that station, was sitting at his deak last night, James Drew, of 344 Lafayette avenue, who is employed as a cierk by Nightingale, rushed in and told the Captain he believed his employer was about to commit suicide.

blieved he lost the money taken from the Association.

Nightingale is thirty-eight years old, and of fine presence. He has always bette a good -putation.

The Long Island Loan Association is one of the largest in Brooklyn. J. S. Oglivie, the New York publisher, is Vice-President.

"At a special meeting."

Oglivie, the New York publisher, is Vice-President.

President James Parker Sloan said:
"At a special meeting held last night the Superintendent of Banks was wired to make a prompt eamination of all the books and accounts. The loss will fall upon the Security Company in which the Secretary has always been bonded.

"Nevertheless the matter could not hurt the Long Island Association, insamuch as its surplus is $78,490.46, and the assets exceed Eab,000, which mioney all invested in first mortgage bonds and real estate of abundant value.

"All money paid during the business hours of the Association have been receipted for by the Secretary and the payments checked by a trustee and the same deposited in bank promptly by the Treasurer.

"The Return to Salvador and Stand for the Presidency.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. II.—Gen. Antonio Ezeta, the exiled Vice-President of Salvador, is about to return to his country and see to replace President Gutteres. Two Salvadorean officers, Col. Meriano Pinto, accompany them back.

There will be an election in Salvador on the first Sunday in January, and Ezeta says he will attempt to force Gutterer to relinquish the Presidency.

Treasurer.

"The Board cannot, however, answer for any sum paid outside of the business hours to the Secretary at his own office, and which, if done, has been contrary to the regulations adopted by

One of the officers of the Association said this afternoon that suspicions of a discrepancy had existed for some time, discrepancy had existed for some time, and auditors were employed to go over the books. The result of this work substantiated the suspicions. A special meeting was called last night and Nightingale requested to be present, but he failed to do so. The American Surety Company furnished bonds for him in the amount of $2,000. As the loss of the Company is piaced at $3,500, each investor will lose about one per cent. on this year's dividends.

There are about 400,000 members. "The loss will be very little to us," the gentleman said, "and will scarcely be felt. Nightingale's method was to accept money from members at his Brooklyn office, credit it in the depositor's book, and fall to pay it to the Association. There is no danger of him committing suicide. He is not that kind of a man. We all regarded him as an ideal secretary, and had every confidence in him.

GRAND JURY CENSURE.

An Electric Light Company Presented for Killing a Man.

The Grand Jury to-day handed in a resentment of censure on the United lectric Light and Power Company for apparent negligence in charging wires of their circuit. The presentment refers to the death of Daniel Malone, ir., of 703 Christle street. On the night of Sept. 19 he touched a railing a few doors from his residence and received an electric shock, from the effects of which he died almost instantly. The Grand Jury, after rehearsing those facts, makes the following report:

According to the testimony of the Vice-President, the manager of the Electric Company, the current end and the manager of the Electric Company, the current of first polita and was not sufficient to cause of fifty roits, and was not sufficient to cause surfaces injury to any person, although receiving its full force; but on the night in question, owing to the electrical disturbances caused by a violent atorm, from another wire a much greater force was diverted to the wire in contact with the cornice, and the cornice and iron railing were heavily charged with electricity. Deniel Malone, fr., placed his band on the iron railing and received the full force of the current.

and received the full farce of the current.

The Grand Jury concluded, after careful examination of all the witnesses, that there is not sufficient evidence upon which to hase an indictment against the corporation or any of its employees, but it is the opinion of the surplement against the Company in the original construction of the plant or in the subsequent inspection of the wires. The Grand Jury presents the corporation for its negligence, and gives an opinion that care should be exercised both by the corporation as well as by other electric companies, to render in the future such an occurrence absolutely impossible. solutely impossible. Gardiner was accused, while an agent of the Parkhurst Society, of trying to extort $150 from Kate Amos by threaten ing to have her house raided. Mr. Maitland Kersey, who is Lord Dunraven's representative in this country, would not admit this morning that he did not believe that there would be no race for the America's Cup next

It is understood that after the Cup Committee had finished its session vesterday, Mr. Kersey was given an audience, and the explanatory letter that goes to Lord Dunraven, via the steam-ship New York to-morrow, was read to

Mr. Kersey, therefore, perfectly understood what position the Cup Committee had taken and the cable from the Committee to Lord Dunraven was followed by one from Kersey also addressed to the

In this cable Mr. Kersey suggested that, in his opinion, the only chance for a match was for the Royal Yacht Squadron to agree to tack on to the receipt demanded by the Cup Committee a declaration to the effect that the cup, if won by Valkyrie, could be challenged for by any other foreign power under the exact conditions under which it was won.

the exact conditions under which it was won.

Mr Kersey said that it was impossible for the Royal Yacht Squadron to get together for a meeting until too late for a race next year. He supposed that the only way out of the dilemna was for Lord Dunraven to call the Commodore and the Vice-Commodore of the Royal Yacht Squadron together and induce them to shoulder the burden of responsibility.

A new ard fairer deed of gift, of course, would settle everything, but this is an impossibility, inasmuch as the five donors of the cup are dead. The deed of gift of 185, therefore, must stand, the New York Club having no other aiternative.

On the trial Justice Ingraham discharged the Commissioners. The District-Attorney appealed to the General Term, which sustained Justice Ingraham. The matter was then taken to the Supreme Court, which has also affirmed the decision. This was one of the cases upon which the five young reformers, headed by Mr. Welling, made charges against Col. Fellows.
